City Councilmen Need
Your Aid
Mr. and Mrs.
Citizen.

THAT the Glendale city council is desirous of solving the transportation problem in the interests of the citizens was demonstrated by the calling of a special meeting to consider the matter. This meeting was held Tuesday night at the council chambers at 7.

By referring decision as to which company out of two applicants should be given a permit, to the people at large, they have shown foresight.

Two transportation companies have applied for a permit to operate busses. Only one can be granted the permit; which shall it be?

AS the matter now stands this rests with the citizenship. It is up to you, Mr. or Mrs. Citizen, to show your appreciation to your councilmen and display the interest you have in your city's future by taking part in solving the question to the best interest of the city.

Both the companies who have applied for a permit have clearly outlined what they propose to furnish. Their propositions are in cold print and as both companies are responsible it remains for us to choose the one which guarantees the greatest return. Both propositions as submitted by the transportation companies was given in full in Friday's issue.

COUNTY Assessor Edward W. Hopkins has announced that the assessed valuation of Los Angeles county has shown a large increase over last year. He has stated that the figures for Glendale will be available some time this week.

This means that within a short time Glendale citizens will know what their tax rate is to be. We are quite sure that this year's rate will show a decrease in both municipal and county taxes. The large increase in county valuation will undoubtedly lower the county rate. We are quite confident that our city councilmen will do their share in aiding the reduction. If they stay within the budget figures, taking into consideration the surplus carried over from last year, the municipal rate should not be higher than 90 cents.

THIS would be a saving of 65 cents. That last year's rate was higher than justified is admitted. There can be no doubt in this fact for the surplus figures prove the contention.

With a low tax rate, one lower than the Los Angeles rate, it is possible, our local chamber of commerce, through its advertising committee could broadcast the fact throughout the land and gain more new residents than through any other means.

DR. P. O. LUCAS
RESIGNS FROM SCHOOL BOARD

Demands of His Profession Makes Action Necessary, He Finds

One of the matters of outstanding interest which occupied the attention of the board of education at its meeting Tuesday night was the acceptance of the resignation of Dr. P. O. Lucas as a member of the board, which was tendered some time ago, and the election of Judge Harry W. Chase of this city to fill the vacancy.

Dr. Lucas has been a member of the board ever since the adoption of the city charter under which the board of education was organized. He has given conscientious service but feels that owing to the exacting demands of his profession it will be impossible for him to longer give the time required.

Judge Chase has long been a resident of this city and is thoroughly identified with its interests. As a father he feels a personal interest in the welfare of the schools in which his children will be educated and board members hope he will accept the appointment. It will be tendered him officially today. His legal knowledge and experience will be of assistance to the board and also his thorough acquaintance with Glendale and its people.

GLENDALE'S DAY OFF

Merchants Close Stores and Hike for Open Fields

"The big thing is on."
Everybody from the acting mayor down is going to Happiland park, formerly Verdugo park, this afternoon. The second annual community picnic of the Glendale Merchants' association will be the big attraction. The members of this organization have been planning for months for this event and they have a list of stunts prepared that will be well worth seeing.

The fireworks of the day will start at 1 o'clock with a baseball game between the merchants of the east and west sides of town. The captains of these teams have spent sleepless nights in their efforts to pick a winning aggregation of ball slingers. There will be real class in this game, and the winning team will probably be in doubt until the last man has been "tagged."

Then there will be races of all kinds, guessing contests and many other attractions. The fat women will be given a chance to see how fast they can run, and the men will come in for a lot of athletics, too.

The affair promises to be a real event—one of those "something doing every minute" kind. Everybody is welcome. There are no strings to this invitation. A good time is promised to all.

The admission fee will be one continuous smile.

Swimming Committee to Be Held at Brook-

For the first horseback riding party under the auspices of Glendale Community Service, eight of those who had registered for this recreation reported Tuesday night at the chamber of commerce headquarters at 6:45 o'clock. Mrs. J. R. Case, chairman of the social recreation committee, and others accompanied them by automobile to the Oakmont riding academy at Montrose where Mr. and Mrs. Morgan took charge of the party.

Each person was saddled according to his or her ability of handling a horse. Some of the riders were inexperienced and others had ridden before. An hour and a half of riding, one hour of which was devoted to instruction, was enjoyed. There are fourteen horses available at the academy. Anyone who wishes to make up private parties of any number and receive the benefit of the special rates, may make arrangements through the Community Service office for any night desired.

Later on after the horseback riding plans are further developed, it is hoped by the committee that breakfast and supper might be arranged.

A meeting of all those interested in hiking parties will be held Friday night at 8 o'clock. Afternoon club to complete plans for the first hiking party to be held on Sunday at the Arroyo Seco.

At a meeting of the swimming committee, held Tuesday night, plans were made for this week's swimming party. It will be held at Brookside park, Pasadena, on Thursday night when those from Glendale will participate in a swimming meet there, put on by the Pasadena Swimming club, headed by Mrs. Aileen Allen. Those desiring or anticipating going should notify Community Service so that transportation may be arranged. The Glendale contingent is to meet at the chamber of commerce headquarters at 7:30 p. m. There will be some special events staged at the pool by swimmers from the Los Angeles Athletic club and the Ambassador club.

CITY SCHOOLS TO HAVE NEW COURSE OF STUDY

Worked Out by Teachers and Principals, It Is Ordered Printed

A new course of study for city schools of Glendale worked out by teachers and principals whose suggestions have been co-ordinated by Miss Anne McIntyre, principal of the Central avenue school and Superintendent White, was submitted to the Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday night and approved, with instructions to have same printed as soon as it is in complete form.

Relative to the intermediate curriculum, Superintendent White states: "The attempt has been made to make the intermediate course of study conform as closely as possible to the standard junior high school course of study in Southern California. It is not possible to make it exactly like that because the intermediates are not junior highs and are restricted by the laws governing the elementary schools, but we have approached it as nearly as possible."

"The most fundamental change from last year is that those entering the seventh grade will not be allowed any election of subjects. The work will all be compulsory. This is along the line of conformity with junior high schools. Practice has shown that children of that age have no idea how to elect; also, it is the opinion among educators that it is too soon to differentiate the work; that they should have at least one more year of general culture."

In the elementary schools we have been making a change in the course prescribed by the county board of education. For the past two years we might have used some other but we chose to use the county course with modifications.

GAS WAR SPREADS OVER THE ENTIRE UNITED STATES

Motorists Rejoice at Unexpected Cuts of All Companies

[By Associated Press]
CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—While rejoicing motorists in many states today laid in supplies of gasoline at prices lower than 20 cents, investigations designed to secure reductions in prices were either under way or planned in states not yet affected by the price cut. Eastern states today joined the mid-west and southern sections with announced reductions.

"The war has just begun," declared Governor W. H. McMaster of South Dakota, whose order to state highway depots to sell gasoline in South Dakota at 16 cents a gallon precipitated action by the Standard Oil company of Indiana to reduce prices in the midwest. The South Dakota executive said the "war" would continue until "gasoline is permanently retailed at a reasonable price."

In Baltimore a cut of one cent was effective today, making the retail price 22 cents, and in Richmond, Va., gasoline retailed at 26 cents after a cut of two cents made effective today by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, which also announced a 2-cent reduction for West Virginia. The Pure Oil company of Ohio announced a reduction of 6.6 cents in the retail price of gasoline.

BUS PROPOSITIONS ARE DISCUSSED FOR THREE HOURS AT CITY COUNCIL

Speakers From Many Parts of the City Give Views on the Propositions for Permits to Operate in the City of Glendale

ACTION IS DEFERRED TO GIVE MORE TIME

Councilmen Declare They Seek the Full Expression of the Citizens of Glendale on the Applications of the P. E. and Verdugo Hills Company

By ALBERT MARPLE

Glendale is three hours nearer having adequate bus transportation than she was before the adjourned meeting of the Glendale city council Tuesday night. During those three solid spaces of 60 minutes each the local bus question was argued from many angles. As each succeeding speaker spoke ideas on the subject the matter seemed to become more clouded, the result being a decision by the council that more time should be given to the subject. Much was gained by the meeting. The local bus question was torn wide open, as it were, and it remains in that condition at this time. The meeting closed on motion of Councilman Kimlin that the matter be laid over for some future meeting, the time of which was not decided upon.

"We have met to consider the bus question," said Acting Mayor Horn, in opening the meeting. "Our aim is to get the expression of the residents and business men of this place on this matter. We do not want to do anything hastily for we have the interest of the city at heart. To be fair we flipped the coin in the adjoining room and in that way decided that the Verdugo Hills company should be permitted to speak first, the Pacific Electric representative following."

Mr. Kent of the Verdugo Hills Transportation company outlined briefly his company's proposition. "We have outlined two routes," said Mr. Kent, "and these we are desirous of putting in, but we leave it open to the council to suggest or outline additional routes, which we will be glad to establish. We stand ready to serve the people of this city with cross-town as well as other lines, and to connect Glendale with the La Crescenta valley to the north. Our main line comes through Glendale and it is natural that the local routes should connect with this main line. We also have an application before the railroad commission for a line to Hollywood."

Mr. Kent then outlined the routes his company proposed to take and stated that the general fare would be 5 cents, with transfers between routes and half fare for children.

A. A. Smith, bus traffic manager of the Pacific Electric, then outlined the routes and general plan of his company, which included three routes, with transfers in certain zones between buses and also the electric cars. The single fare would be 6 cents, with 5 cents by book and 3 cents for children. He stated his company could begin operation at once with second class buses, these to be replaced by modern buses within a specified time.

"Our object," said Mr. Smith, "is to serve the greatest number of people possible. We propose to put on high class buses, the same as we are using in Pasadena, which cost $7600 each."

Each of the companies propose to maintain a half-hour schedule, with more frequent service during the peak hours.

A bomb was thrown in the matter when Mr. Betts, president and general manager of the B. and H. Transportation company of Long Beach, was introduced.

"If I come in here," said Mr. Betts, "I will charge 5 cents per ride anywhere in the city and I'll run at least a 15-minute service. My company runs a 4 to 9-minute schedule in Long Beach."

Many other things were promised by Mr. Betts, but when it was known that this company uses nothing but solid tires on its cars and would consider no other, the bubble burst and the B. and H. was considered out of the running. Tires of this kind, acknowledged Mr. Betts, would quickly tear up the local macadam streets.

A meeting will be called at an early date by the council for further consideration of this bus question.

SANITARIUM IS NOT MERCENARY, SAYS ELDER W. M. ADAMS

President of Board of Directors Explains the Policy of Management of Adventist Institution

MANY ARE TREATED WHO CANNOT PAY

Reviews History of Work in Glendale, and Points to the Possibility of Great Extension With New Facilities in Big Plant

At the complimentary luncheon which the Glendale Sanitarium gave Tuesday at its new plant in the mouth of Sycamore canyon for the directorate of the Chamber of Commerce, city officials and others, Clarence Kimlin as business manager, voiced the pleasure of his board and himself in entertaining so representative a group of Glendale citizens and his disappointment because the haze obscured the far view generally to be had from the sun parlor on the roof. He then introduced members of the sanitarium board of directors, as follows:

Elder W. M. Adams, president; W. E. Salisbury, vice president; Dr. H. G. Westphal, medical superintendent and surgeon; Elder J. L. McElhany, president of the Pacific Union conference; Dr. W. J. Johnson, B. M. Emerson, secretary of the P. U. C.; Elder C. W. Reeder, business agent of Southern California conference; Dr. Riley Russell, one of the Sanitarium staff, and for 14 years in the mission field; Elder W. P. Knox, connected with the general conference; W. E. Whalen, superintendent of construction; B. F. Bliss of the finance department, and Alfred F. Priest, architect.

President Adams, when called upon, reviewed the development of the sanitarium work of the Seventh Day Adventist denomination in Glendale and elsewhere, saying:

"We began our work in Glendale in the year 1904 when we bought the site of the old institution which has been in operation ever since. The reports of our business manager up to June 1 of the present year showed that our gross returns for 11 months had been $265,000. We hope to have this largely augmented in this main building which has 129 rooms for patients. We believe our income here will reach at least $350,000.

"The payroll of the sanitarium is $2500 per week. The payroll of our new building has been averaging about $5000 per week. This means total expenditures by the sanitarium of $7500 per week.

"We have seven physicians of which Dr. Westphal is chief; we have as our business manager, secretary and treasurer, C. E. Kimlin, who is a member of your chamber of commerce; we have had 75 nurses in training the past year and have graduated 199; the total number of employees in our institution is 208. We have been treating from 1800 to 2000 patients a year.

"This institution has been organized and is operated not from mercenary business motives. We do a great deal of charitable work. The many who are unable to pay are not turned away. We do not handle contagious diseases. We appreciate your presence here and your co-operation and will strive to make this institution one Glendale will be proud of."

Elder McElhany, who was the next speaker, spoke of the advantage of a site in a city that is becoming so well known as is Glendale toward which all eyes are turned, he declared.

He called attention to the fact that the Glendale Sanitarium is but one unit in a chain of similar institutions conducted by the denomination, California alone having three others, viz. at St. Helena, Loma Linda and Paradise Valley, near San Diego. Said he:

"This great work of healing is carried on not for the profits accruing from it, but as part of the great program of the denomination started sixty years ago and is no longer experimental. We believe this institution has a great future."

Elder Knox dwelt on the ramifications of the work of the denomination, evangelistic work, pure and simple, healing through its institutional work, and its educational program. He referred to early days in Glendale before a sanitarium was established here, when a comparatively narrow road marked the trail up the valley.

"This," he said, is but one of a sisterhood of sanitariums of which North America has 22.

Councilman W. A. Horn responded on behalf of city officials, voicing their congratulations to the sanitarium board and Mr. Kimlin on the splendid institution so near completion, pronouncing it a credit not only to Glendale, but to the greatest state in the Union, and worthy the best support Glendale can give it.

D. H. Smith responded for the chamber of commerce, expressing its appreciation of the work of the Glendale sanitarium and of its hospitality.

This closed the program of speeches and guests were then conducted over the new building.

GILLET TENT HEARS REPORT OF MRS. MOORE

Annual Picnic to Be Held on September 2, It Is Decided

At the regular meeting of Mary Jane Gillett tent, Daughters of Veterans, held Tuesday night at the American Legion hall at 610 East Broadway, Mrs. Pearl Moore, president, gave a report of a meeting of the Memorial Home board that she had attended at Clara Barton hall in Los Angeles on Monday. She gave a very satisfactory report on progress being made on the Daughters' memorial home that is being built at Sawtelle.

It was decided that the Daughters would hold their annual picnic with the Sons of Veterans and their auxiliary on September 2. A committee including Charles F. Stuart and Mrs. Joseph Griffin was appointed to decide on the location.

An all-day meeting of the Nimble Finger club will be held on August 23 at the home of Mrs. Susie Peck, 116 East Cypress street.

TOM MIX RIDES UP TO GLENDALE THEATRE AGAIN

Every Tom Mix picture provides at least one new and distinct thrill for the entertainment and amusement of movie fans. The resourceful and ever original "stunt-artist" of the screen never fails his admirers who can always expect a breezy thrilling screen film narrative.

Without any exceptions the stunts performed by Tom Mix in his latest William Fox picture, "3 Jumps Ahead," which is now at the Glendale theater, are the most daring ever attempted before the camera.

In this latest story of the Western plains, Mix mounted, leaps a canyon 20 feet wide and 90 feet deep, undoubtedly the longest and most daring leap ever performed by a screen star.

In the picture which is built around a band of cattle rustlers, Mix is pursuing a stage coach in which the leader of the band is riding. To throw off pursuit the rustler has a bridge over a deep canyon destroyed after the coach has passed over safely. Mix rides up to the canyon and, after taking a short run back for a good start, successfully forces his horse over the chasm and continues the chase.

This scene, which flashes on the screen for but a few minutes, had to be carefully planned because of a former experience Tom Mix had with his favorite mount. During a personal appearance tour of New York City last year "Tony" suffered a bad fall in the Fox Audition theater. A runaway had been built from the stage to the center aisle and Mix rode swiftly down the aisle and guided "Tony" up the plank runway. But the horse's feet slipped and the animal slid across the "ramp" of the stage.

While no injuries were caused by the fall, "Tony" was very nervous during the time he remained in the theater.

Mix, who never has used a double, has thrilled motion picture fans in previous pictures by jumping from a horse to a fast moving train; riding down steep mountain sides; leaping from a bridge to the river below with his horse; jumping from one roof to another; and then crashing through two stories to the basement; and in his last picture Mix jumped his horse into a moving freight car.

CHIEF LANKFORD'S SON WINS BRIDE IN WHITTIER

Burlin Lankford Weds Hazel E. Rockwell of That City

Burlin Lankford and Hazel E. Rockwell were united in marriage on August 12 in Whittier. Rev. Louis Tinning of Glendale officiated and the ceremony took place in the United Presbyterian church of Whittier at the close of the morning service. The bride is well known in Whittier, where she has lived for a number of years, having formerly lived in Colorado. Mr. Lankford formerly lived in Glendale and is a son of Fire Chief Arthur H. Lankford. Mr. and Mrs. Burlin Lankford will make their home in Whittier, where Mr. Lankford is employed by one of the oil companies.

HOME ECONOMICS SECTION PARTY

Mrs. Harley Clough and Mrs. Ernest Carr were hostesses at the regular weekly informal card party given by the Home Economics section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. T. G. Widmeyer is curator, at the club house on Tuesday afternoon. There were ten tables playing. High score at bridge was made by Mrs. W. L. Andrews and at 500 by Mrs. Southern. There will be four more parties before the series closes on September 11, when the grand prizes will be awarded.

BI-HEAD SNAKE IS DISCOVERED

[By Associated Press]
HOOD RIVER, Ore., Aug. 15.—Hood River folk the other day saw a snake which, they say, possesses two heads, one in front and one on the tail end.

George T. Prather, pioneer and discoverer of the Hood River Glacier, brought the serpent to town. He ran over it near his ranch.

In the early days, according to Prather, peculiar snakes, ranging from nine to 12 inches long, and possessing the ability to move either forward or backward, were frequently found.

PRAYER MEETING AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH TONIGHT

The prayer meeting service at the Glendale Presbyterian church this evening will be in charge of the assistant pastor, Rev. Louis Tinning. Rev. Watkin R. Roberts of London, England, will be present and give the address of the evening. Rev. Roberts is one of the secretaries of the Northeast India General Mission and his address this evening will be of special interest as he will tell of the work of the mission with which he is connected. The speaker is a native of Wales and was in Wales and had an active part in the great revival in that land a few years ago.

De Valera Arrested by Free State Troops

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(By the Associated Press) A dispatch to the Press Association from Ennis, county Clare, Ireland, says Free State troops have taken Eamon de Valera, the republican leader, to the barracks.

De Valera fell to the floor in a faint as he approached the platform, the dispatch says, and it was at first thought he was wounded, but later he walked down the steps to the waiting troops, who walked with him to the barracks.

The arrest was made under sensational circumstances. De Valera was addressing a meeting of electors in the market square when Free State troops came on the scene and fired several volleys over the heads of the crowd. A stampede occurred and several arrests were made. The troops then surrounded the platform and took the republican leader into custody.

When De Valera appeared on the scene there were many thousands of people gathered around the platform and he was given a tumultuous welcome.

A voice was heard shouting, "The soldiers are coming," and immediately a large body of military with armored cars surrounded the platform.

EDISON COMPANY TURNS LOOSE SIERRA UNIT

First of High Sierra Projects Delivers Flood to San Joaquin Power Station

CASCADE, Calif., Aug. 15.—The diverted waters of the San Joaquin river roared through the mouth of a 21-foot bore in solid mountain granite early today when officials of the Southern California Edison company formally opened their new tunnel near here, said to be the largest excavation of its kind in the world.

As the torrent of water poured out, President John B. Miller of the company stood at the top of the canyon and congratulated vice president George C. Ward, in charge of construction, and the other officers and workmen who had brought the project to completion.

"The completion of the first tunnel unit today," said Mr. Miller, "marks an important step in the construction project, which involves digging 86 miles of mountain tunnels, building a chain of power houses and impounding four mountain lakes at a total estimated cost of $365,000,000, or $15,000,000 more than the construction cost of the Panama Canal."

In a few days a second section of the tunnel will be flooded and then the two entrances will be sealed and the water permitted to flow through the entire six mile bore and then be dropped to the great new power house at the foot of San Joaquin canyon. The officials believe this plant will be completed and its 100,000 horsepower of electric energy connected up about October 1.

He was relating tales of his travels and his listeners were impressed.

"But the real thriller was when I made 60 cannibals run," he said and paused, waiting for encouragement.

"How did you do that?" inquired a listener, anxiously.

"I ran and they all ran after me," was the reply.

Boyer and son and daughter, of Berkeley, entertained with a house warming at their beautiful new home at the corner of Milford and Orange streets on Tuesday night in the form of a masquerade dancing party. France's Silent Premier Spends Days in Writing

PARIS, Aug. 15.—Premier Poincare uses up more pens in a week than did his predecessor, Briand, in a year, a keen observer of the French foreign office said recently. "The reason is that Poincare speaks little, but writes much. Briand always had a cigarette in his hand; Poincare always has a pen."

The present premier receives very few callers, and except for Count Porretti de la Rocca, director at the ministry, and his chief of cabinet, M. Hermette, Poincare sees hardly any one. He remains at his desk throughout long days—from 12 to 14 hours—writing. There is not a single document coming out of the ministry of foreign affairs, whether they be grave and solemn instructions to ambassadors or minor matters of routine business, that the premier does not see personally, and often times corrects or amplifies in his own hand.

His famous speech delivered at Senlis July 15, written entirely in that crisp, sharp handwriting which is peculiar to the premier of France, went to the government printers without a single correction or erasure.

THE GREENWICH VILLAGE LIFE SEEN IN FILM

Greenwich Village, New York, studio life as it is and not as some writers are wont to depict it, is a scene of many interesting sequences in the Paramount picture, "The Purple Highway," featuring Madge Kennedy, which will be shown at the Gateway theatre today.

The story tells of a young playwright and musician, both of them failures as far as their professions go, who, spurred on to further efforts by April Blair, little slavey in the Home for Artistic Failures, of which they are inmates, come to live in New York City in the vicinity of Washington Square. Here Edgar Craig starts work on his new play, and Joe Renard takes April in hand—for she hopes of some day becoming a great stage star.

CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS GATHER AT SANITARIUM FOR GET TOGETHER MEET

Representatives of Chamber of Commerce and Other Important Organizations Are Guests of the Adventist Hospital

In the program of speeches which followed the complimentary dinner given directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and representatives of other important organizations of the city, lawyers and physicians, the first one to be called upon was F. D. Burleson, representative of the Pacific coast division of the National Red Cross who had come to Glendale specially to address the Community Chest committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Only a few minutes were granted him and he improved the time in an expert manner, saying all he could hope to do would be to convince his hearers that the movement they had started was a logical movement. Said he:

"I hope you are not thinking of this movement in financial terms only. If you are you are thinking of only one phase. You have a group of agencies here. We in the work call them social agencies, made up of groups of people who have come together with the idea of carrying out some kind of a program to help people who need to be helped. In almost every city without a community chest you find these agencies competing with each other. Why? Because they have to raise funds to carry on their work and have to raise them on credit claims. That credit claim is stiffer than any financial competition in the business world you have ever known and yet they are groups of people working for the same end or aim, to make boys and girls of the next generation or the fathers and mothers of this generation better than they are now.

"In your community chest plan you bring your agencies together into a united organization to work out plans to eliminate competition and to dovetail programs. To do that you must remove the financial competition. You get your joint financing in your community chest movement which means the elimination of competition.

"You get certain benefits. You raise the money more cheaply; you raise it with less work; you eliminate the annoyance of solicitation all the year around, the annoyance of having solicitors come to you once a month or once a week. But you do a bigger thing. In your campaign publicity you must teach the community about what is being done and what is to be done, and gradually you educate the community through your campaigns so

'THE WAYFARER' TO HAVE CAST OF 7000

Chorus of 4000 Voices in America's Great Passion Pageant

Rivalling in magnificence of costume and scale any spectacle ever offered in this country, "The Wayfarer," America's passion pageant, will be presented in Los Angeles at the Coliseum at Exposition park from Sept. 8 to 15.

Seven thousand people will appear in the cast for the production and a huge stage 90 feet in height and 150 feet in width will be built for the pageant's presentation. It is a non-money making event, and should there be any profits they will go to the University of Southern California. No one will be paid; not even the leading actors.

There will be 4,000 voices in the great chorus, while a band of 100 of the finest musicians will render the beautiful music. Already the great chorus is rehearsing under the direction of Montgomery Lynch, who will stage the production. So wide is the appeal of "The Wayfarer," that a number of residents of this city are regularly attending rehearsals in Los Angeles.

Dr. J. E. Crowther of Philadelphia, author of the passion pageant, has arrived in Los Angeles to lend his assistance to the production. "The Wayfarer," absolutely non-sectarian, opens with a prologue depicting "The Wayfarer" witnessing the World War and marvelling at the slaughter. Wisdom, in the form of a beautiful woman, appears and leads the Wayfarer through a series of five episodes, beginning with the Babylonian captivity and ending with Christ's resurrection. The grand finale in the form of a march of nations with 7,000 performers indicates that moral victory is after all, the real aftermath of seeming defeat.

"The Wayfarer" has been presented in New York, Columbus, Ohio, and Seattle, but never on such a scale as this. Merle Armitage, well known impresario, is business manager, and Edegar L. Webster, general manager.

Broke—and in New York. Alone.—and among seven million people. Hungry—and no place to eat. Tired—with no place to rest. Forlorn, accustomed to wealth and not used to the hardships of a man without money, thousands of miles from home and not a friend to turn to.

These are the hardships faced by Horace Winsby, in "Making a Man," a Paramount picture starring Jack Holt which is the feature at the T. D. & L. theatre tonight. In the character of Winsby, Mr. Holt is a wealthy, ultra-dignified snob, cordially disliked by employees and neighbors alike. Coldly harsh to those who are placed in his power, he attempts to force an Italian vendor to leave his little farm when the mortgage, which Winsby holds, falls due and finds the foreigner short of funds. The Italian, maddened through fear that he will lose his little home for which he has labored so long and afraid that his family will be thrown out, goes crazy and starts out to shoot Mr. Winsby with a shotgun. A chase results, but Mr. Winsby makes his getaway.

Warned by his clerk that the Italian has sworn to "get him," Mr. Winsby hastily departs for New York—in his hurry not stopping for clothes or money, other than the cash he has on his person. In the city, pickpockets rob him of what cash he possesses, leaving him absolutely without funds. Then it is that he finds himself alone in the city of seven million souls, without food, friends, money and, worst of all, without credit.

Then he meets "Shorty" McCabe, a down-and-out who is accustomed to the coldness of the city. It is from Shorty that Mr. Winsby learns the first rudiments of real manhood—to share your purse with those less fortunate, to call every man your equal until he proves otherwise. Thus it is that Mr. Winsby is made into a real man. Eva Novak plays opposite Mr. Holt and in the supporting cast are J. P. Lockney, Robert Dudley, Frank Nelson, Kalla Pasha and others.

Among those who have been their guests were Leo Smith, editor of the Ventura Free Press, Mrs. Smith and their daughter; W. S. O'Brien, editor of the Marysville Democrat and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Alexander, of the Alexander print shop in Marysville.

Mr. Radke has put the Greater Glendale spirit into the northern visitors, according to their own accounts of the frequent publicity which they have in their new columns on the splendid growth and forward progress of this section.

Truths in Epigram

Even today mercantile morality is nothing but a refinement of piratical morality.—Nietzsche.

The sagacious reader . . . is capable of reading between these lines what does not stand written in them.—Goethe.

A man without passion is only a latent force, only a possibility.—Amiel.

THE PREMATURE SCRAMBLE

Even before the nation had buried its honored dead, while still its tears of sorrow and of sympathy fell fast, eager politicians were making their bids for preferment. With measureless cruelty, and with an insolence that may not be described, they were telling of the fitness of this man or that, for the chair to which President Harding in all likelihood would have been chosen a second time. Happily not a man who could by the country be deemed fit for the honor, had the misfortune to be mentioned in the distressing circumstances. Such as were named had thrust themselves forward. Each had been the uncompromising foe of President Harding. Each had fought his administration and belittled his policies. Each seems to have jumped to the conclusion the instant death had sealed the eyes of the President, that the great emotion of the people was not grief, but a desire to know who should be next elected successor of the one fallen at the post of duty. So began the scramble, heartless, indecent, and to the self-respect of the nation, humiliating.

Californians cannot but regret deeply that one of the offenders is of their state. They realize with indignation and shame that the chief agent in hawking the virtues of this man, also was once known as a Californian. As a rule they regard the latter as the most vicious individual influence to which society and politics are subject. They hold that his advocacy of a candidate ought to be sufficient to shelve the candidate as a possibility. They believe that the frantic endeavor of the pair is but a reaching after the unattainable, and yet they are sorry that the spectacle in any way tends to touch the fair name of California.

YOUTHFUL AMBITIONS

Shortly after a girl of fourteen years had disappeared, together with $200, to which she could not have shown clear title, the youngster, the roll much depleted, was discovered at a city hotel. She had assumed the role of social queen, as preliminary to "getting into pictures." The process of getting into pictures has been essayed many times more than it has been accomplished. This fact never discourages youth.

The youngster in this instance lived in Los Angeles, but for the purpose of the character she had taken, chose to register as from Chicago. Her identity was revealed because the papers published her photograph. She, together with the scanty balance of her wealth, was taken home. What happened there is not for the public to know. Perchance a spanking. To be snatched from the glamor of pretense back to the reality of spanking, could not have been pleasing, but might have involved a moral uplift.

It is useless to assume that this little girl is bad, or that her conduct is in any way unaccountable. Of course the act of eloping with $200 is not to be condoned as a phase of juvenile thoughtlessness. But to run away, to be somebody else—anybody else—is a common inspiration. Many more boys than girls have tried it. They had received false views of life. Perhaps they had read the wrong books, had the wrong counsel, or no counsel. Anyhow, they know there is a world outside, and they go in quest of it. Happily the journey generally is short, and the traveler glad that it is over, even if the end be marked by a spanking.

EXAMPLES OF FAILURE

Germany was a great government. It was systematized with a completeness never elsewhere attained. The people lived according to rule, but such had been their training that the rules were not irksome. The solution of domestic economic and industrial relations had been so nearly accomplished that the world admired the result, and sought to copy the method. But the restless minds that dominated Germany were not content. They desired to take over the leadership of the world, tried it, and failed so miserably that whether Germany is to continue to exist as a unit, becomes a question. As this is written there is the threat of revolution, openly hurled by the communists, the same baleful element that has made a tragedy of Russia.

Russia is a failure mainly because the usurping leaders had an ambition to rule not alone Russia but the world. Their control of Russia they regarded as but an incident preliminary to universal control, all dictated from Moscow. Had these leaders been devoted to the good of Russia, had they been honest, had they not virtually declared themselves at war with all government, their experiment would have been watched with friendly interest. Had the people of Russia, by any form of revolt, overthrown the czarist regime, and in its place set up a government dedicated to liberty, and the improvement of Russian conditions, there is nothing to indicate that success might not have crowned the effort. There was no endeavor in such direction. Freedom at home was banished wholly save where it gave way to license. Labor was denied reward. The laborer was left without incentive. Activities ceased, and the agencies of manufacture and transport rusted and rotted. Even the heads of authority there now perceive the futility of their earlier course, but there is no faith in them now.

As the first duty of a man is to care for them of his own house, so the first duty of a nation is to care for them from whom it expects allegiance. This does not mean that a nation should be isolated. Human interests are so interwoven that such position would be impossible. There is inevitable contact of interests. The tides of traffic and diplomacy ever meet and mingle, if they do not merge. There is no place for the people who would play hermit. In the great play constantly on the boards, the play "Civilization," the hermit has not been given a role.

Friendliness among nations is essential. It is the realization of this that leads to interchange of courtesies, to combinations in protection of mutual interests. It has caused advocacy of a league of nations, and now for a world court. No people favoring either of these plans wants to interfere with others; the sole wish is to preserve the peace, while each nation shall go on attending to its own business, not like Germany or Russia, striving to be an all-conquering and all-absorbing power.

Prohibition officers recently found a smiling group seated about a table. The officers were in search of spirits. Not desiring to waste time they tipped the table themselves. This revealed the presence of the spirits. The table was tapped, and the spirits ran out. Conan Doyle seems to have been vindicated.

The professional bunko man seems never to be regenerated. He may be placed in jail, and thus divorced from opportunity, but this is the utmost that society is able to do for him. A recent one of the type recently on trial in the courts of Los Angeles county, jumped his $10,000 bail, leaving his bondsmen in the lurch, just as might have been expected of him.

Any woman can marry any man she wants—if he is willing.

When the star boarder marries the landlady he becomes a fixed star.

Angels and Other Plunder

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

It was a man aided and abetted by another man who started this train of thought.

Man No. 1 insisted that all angels were women and invariably had flaxen or red hair; and to prove it he hustled out and brought in an advertisement inserted in an evening paper. It called for several hundred blonde girls to act as angels in some kind of a charade, moving picture or what not.

He was showing it to Man No. 2 when I blew in; both were saying things about men angels being neglected.

I consoled them by pointing out there wasn't any such thing as a female angel and called on the Biblical record to bear me out. But those two chaps were stubborn and they between them compounded an editorial on the subject and I am sure ere this it has been released on the innocent public.

Now all Bible students know that angels as described in all parts of the Scriptural text as MALE. I know because I have so often resented the fact. There was Michael and Gabriel and Lucifer, son of the morning. There was the angel who wrestled with Jacob and dislocated his thigh and there were guardian angels named and unnamed; and each and all were of the masculine persuasion. Why there should be no female angels in the Bible and no male angels in the movies is too much for a mere woman.

However, it is notable that all movie angels are female and blonde. Somehow brunettes are persons non grata in the moving picture screen, being used only in vampish parts or featured as villains. I recall with vivid recollections of a comic note my first sight of a movie angel.

She appeared in "The Raven" with Henry Walthall. In spots this was an exquisite and artistic production—but, oh, that angel. She appeared in the most tragic part of the production, the dark and dreadful moment when Walthall lay prone on the floor in the giant shadow of the brooding raven and she was clad in a white chemise cloth robe and wore a crown of gilded paper mache. Her figure would have called forth a groan of envy from Brunhilda and in very truth it wrung a snort from a long-suffering male back of me.

A brewery worker," he exclaimed and threw his cap violently to the floor.

Incidentally this Brunhilda angel had flowing blonde locks and a countenance that would have well fitted our fistie friend, Jess Willard.

But why argue about the sex of angels seeing that there is to be neither marrying nor giving in marriage in heaven? No special reason; there just seems to be an overflowing of things male in the conventional heaven, which may account for the most indifference exhibited by two fisted male men about getting there.

Anyhow those two worthies who said that all angels are blonde and female have no scriptural authority for their conclusion.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

BUSINESS LETTERS

Well written business letters are vital to the success of your company or corporation. In the first place, they should be written promptly. If you cannot send an immediate reply in full, forward an acknowledgment with the statement that you are following this with a letter that will discuss all the questions raised by your customer. The first paragraph of your letter should treat abruptly the main issue, and all unnecessary phrases, such as beg leave, instant, your favor, your esteemed favor, allow me to say, in reply would say, should be omitted. Be direct and to the point.

Be brief. If your message can be put into one or two paragraphs, limit the size of the letter accordingly. If the adding of details can be omitted, by all means keep them out.

Make your letters honest and frank. Do not try to sell a man something, when you know in your heart he should not have that thing. If you are convinced that you cannot provide him with that which will fill his needs, tell him so frankly, advise him where he can get the article, and in the long run you will make five or more friends and gain the same number of sales for every sale you lose by being fair.

A man who writes a business letter should have authority and the authority should be sound and intelligent. The letter writer should know his business in every detail and when he writes, the product of his pen should have the strong arm of the business he represents behind him.

Promptness, frankness, conciseness, and authority are four important qualities of a good business letter.

Vocabulary. Infraction is the act of breaking, especially a law; as, They investigated complaints of local infractions.

There is a difference between Jones and Brown of course.

The difference that is within. Not so much without.

The difference in purpose.

The difference in idealism.

The difference in outlook.

And Jones and Brown start in the world's work.

Equal opportunity.

Equal education.

One has thrift.

One is a spendthrift.

Songs of the Poets

An Irish Lullaby—By Alfred Perceval Graves

I've found my bonny babe a nest
On Slumber Tree,
I'll rock you there to rosy rest,
Ashore Machree!
Oh, lullaby lo! sing all the leaves
On Slumber Tree,
Until everything that hurts or grieves
Afar must flee.

I've put my pretty child to float
Away from me,
Within the new moon's silver boat
On Slumber Sea,
And when your starry sail is o'er
From Slumber Sea,
My precious one, you'll step to shore
On Mother's knee.

WHAT I SAW IN JAPAN

By DR. FRANK CRANE

HERE are some of the things I observed in Japan. I make no pretention to estimate the Japanese people, and indulge in no generalizations or conclusions. All the value of this piece is that it is honest. I went through Japan as an ordinary traveler, and these are some of the things I noticed.

I saw I do not know how many hundred thousand people, including farm laborers, crowds in railway stations, people along the streets, shopkeepers, mothers in doorways, bankers, clerks, stenographers and servants, yet I saw no face that was surly, no action that was not polite, and never heard one harsh or angry word.

It is a nation of children. Children swarm everywhere. I saw them swarming to school, swarming on the streets and swarming upon their mother's backs. I never heard one of them cry but once, and that was a little baby who whined for about two minutes when he woke up in the railway coach.

I saw a little fellow not more than four years old fall and bash his head on the sidewalk. It must have hurt dreadfully. The tears streamed from his eyes. But he did not scream once.

I never had anyone ask me for a tip but once. I never saw a hotel attendant or other person who waited on me deign to look at the tip I gave him. He would bow and smile and pocket the money without deigning to observe it. Of course, he may have looked at it rather carefully afterwards.

I never saw one drunken person, although there seems to be no restriction on the sale of liquor.

I never entered a shop to look about or stopped at a house by the roadside in the country to sit down and rest, or called at an office or a residence, but somebody came along in a minute and offered me a cup of tea.

I never saw a cleaner people, not even the Dutch, than the Japanese.

I bought a box of sandwiches from a boy on a railway platform. The box was of nice new thin wood and the sandwiches were exquisitely wrapped in the thinnest of Japanese paper. They were ham sandwiches, and speaking of thinness, whoever sliced the ham must have practiced a long time on shaving calling cards.

That the Japanese are always smiling does not mean that they are stolid, unfeeling or hypocritical. It means that for a thousand years they have been bred to self-control. The editor of a newspaper told me that one of the boys he employed came to him and asked to be excused for two or three days because his mother had died. He smiled as he asked it. The editor said, "I know that boy's heart was breaking, and the smile simply meant that he had been trained not to impose his griefs upon other people."

When I think of the innumerable men and three innumerable women in my own country whose principal occupation is describing their diseases and rehearsing their troubles I wish that the Japanese might send a few missionaries to the United States.

In all my stay in Japan I never heard one human being say anything mean about another one. The only real juicy gossip I heard was from American travelers.

I saw that electricity is probably making more rapid advance in Japan than anywhere else in the world. All the electric companies are booming. Practically every hut has an electric light. It will not be many years before every factory wheel and every railway locomotive in Japan will be run by electricity. This is because there is such vast water power.

My entire impression of the Japanese may be summed up by saying that they are human beings like the rest of us, and a very energetic, ambitious, sensitive and courteous people.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

Evidently the fire-fighter who was caught setting fires wanted something to fight, so as to earn his pay.

The politicians of the Los Angeles police assure the public that the department is free from politics.

Even if Cuno falls, there is no chance of his falling from a very great height.

The man who confesses to causing the death of Villa seems to be provided with several very fair excuses.

Subscriptions ought to be taken to pay the fare of the fellows so anxious to cross the English Channel that they propose to swim.

Fraudulent dealers in oil stock are being arrested right along, but none of their victims has been observed getting his money back.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

KIND HUSBANDS

[Bangor Commercial]

Thirty-five young women from Holland stepped foot on American shores the other day admitting they are seeking "kind husbands because they have heard that American men are good to their wives." Some American wives may be inclined to enjoy a silent laugh over this innocence displayed by the Hollanders, but after the first humorous aspect of the situation has passed, most of those who have enjoyed the comedy will be inclined to believe after all that there is much merit in what these foreign women say about the husbands of America.

When one sits down and considers the lot of women in many countries of Europe, and reflects upon the limited opportunities which they possess for enjoying life, it ought to be a source of mutual satisfaction both to husbands and wives in America that they are living in a country where a higher standard of marital relationship obtains than in many foreign nations.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

The Swift Star, a tanker plying out of San Pedro, is reported to have been lost at sea. At least at this writing it has vanished from mortal ken. With a wireless equipment, it had sent no message. The only sign given up by the deep has been an ice box marked with the name of the ship and freighted with the body of an unknown dead man.

It is seldom nowadays that there is so mysterious a tragedy of the great waters. The modern vessel is so equipped that in time of danger it may send a call for help so as to reach other ships, and the ports in all directions. But no summons was heralded from the Swift Star. Perhaps crippled and drifting it awaits the chance aid of some passerby. Perhaps it has gone down with all aboard leaving no record and no trace.

There are speculations as to how fate could have overtaken a staunch and well-manned craft. One theory is that the officers were overpowered by a communist crew intent on sabotage, and that the crew in emergency had been unequal to the demand for seamanship. It is an interesting enough theory, but that it is all is it.

The Automobile Club of Southern California has joined in the war upon grade crossings. It is a large organization of great influence.

The objection to eliminating the grade crossing is the expense. The public has considered the objection, and decided to overrule it.

Los Angeles city jails have been pronounced a disgrace by the new chief of police there. Almost anybody could have told him that.

Confession to the murder of Villa has been made by a member of the Mexican chamber of deputies at Durango. Probably nobody had dreamed that the plot of assassination had been conceived by one in high place. The task of Mexican justice has been rendered more difficult. Had the guilty person been a peon of the Villa class, he could have been shot at sunrise, and the incident regarded as closed.

There is no doubt that Villa had earned his fate. Abundant grounds once might have been found for hanging him on the ground that shooting was too good. That was long ago. Villa apparently had reformed, been clothed with respectability, accorded the protection of the government, and thought himself a country gentleman, whether he was or not.

A man hired to fight fires was caught setting them instead. He had gone crazy, and is in the asylum now. It is not singular that he should have lost his mind. The work of fighting fire is the most exhausting and strenuous known. At the same time the fire-fighter knows often that it is futile. Probably he ponders on the fool hiker who started the blaze, and that makes him pretty mad. There is abundant excuse for him when he becomes insane, a half-cooked brain not being conducive to clear thinking.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

"BUT I TOLD HIM"

"It's too bad the lad made such a mistake, but after all boys and girls have to do some things in order to gain sense. It seems these errors cannot be altogether avoided."

"I wouldn't care so much, but I told him all about it and warned him. Why didn't he mind me? I told him," returns his mother.

And the teacher says, "They ought to know that. There's no excuse for their not knowing. I've told them over and over again."

Of course they have been told! They have listened to our telling so often that they could recite our speeches down to the last word and inflection. Then why don't they heed? I don't know.

I only know that you and I did not altogether follow our leaders, did not wholly appreciate all the warnings and prohibitions imposed upon us by the elders. We, being live and quick, felt the desire to try some of the forbidden things and learn for ourselves how they felt.

To be sure we usually suffered for it, but now and then we found that at least for us there was no terror hidden in the forbidden thing. We had been warned that smoking would injure our health.

We tried it and found that we rather liked it. We smoked ourselves blue until the doctor, called in to help out a bad throat, said smoking wasn't the very best thing we could do.

Then we stopped, conquered but not convinced. We've never really given up the idea that we could smoke if we wanted to and that our throats wouldn't suffer. Still the memory of that bad throat lingers and we don't.

A young man traveling toward a western city was invited by an elderly gentleman to play poker. Some of the rest of us had been invited and had pleaded ignorance of the game.

The youngster returned in a very short time looking pale and dejected. Tactful inquiry revealed that he had lost all the money he had, and didn't know how he was to get back to college. Walking two thousand miles midwinter wasn't exactly what a young man would call pleasure.

"S'pose you've been told about a million times not to play cards with strangers on the road," said the blunt fellow who'd been watching him.

"Yes, I was warned, but I thought he was all right."

"Well now you know," growled the old chap. "You won't ever have to guess about it again. S'pose your father finances your doings?"

"Yes," returned the miserable youth.

"Well, you've a week's holiday. Come around to the factory and I'll let you earn that money back. You'll learn something about that too. It's all cheap at the price. Telling you isn't going to do any good. Just lamm it into you will though."

I think that's what has to be done with some of them. Just lamm it into them by good stiff experience. Folk cannot live vicariously. It's each to his job. Telling them doesn't go far enough.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

The other man in the smoking room seemed to want to talk and so I let him. One has no recourse in a case of that sort, except to leave the room. He said he had refused to hire a man who came to him well recommended.

"But I fear I made a mistake," said he.

He said he needed just the sort of a man this chap seemed to be. But before making the engagement he took the applicant out to lunch. There is something about good food, he said, that puts a man off his guard. He is apt to give away any little weakness he may possess.

"This one struck me as a liar," he said. "He told me two or three stories that I could not believe. So I let him go."

Now that the applicant has found another job, for a rival firm, he is proving to be just the sort of a man my unknown friend of the smoking room wanted.

"What is getting me," said my unknown friend, "is this: 'Was he a liar?'"

"Or did he tell the truth about himself?"

"And if he did tell the truth, was he a braggart, or was he one of the simple, straight-forward men one meets now and then, who tells his own story in so blundering a fashion as to handicap himself, but is thoroughly competent when dealing with other men?"

My unknown friend said that he would not willingly have a liar in his employ. Next to a liar he rated a braggart as undesirable. But there are men who have the capacity to do good work without the ability to tell about the capacity in winning fashion. He fears he let one such slip through his hands.

"After all, though," he comforted himself, "give me the close-tongued men every time. I may lose occasionally by picking the man who knows how to keep his mouth tight shut, but in the long run I win."

Yet my unknown friend proved to be an advertising man in a big way of business. So there is a paradox I cannot escape. The reader may puzzle it out for himself.

LUTHERANS OF THE WORLD TO MEET IN EISENACH

One of the most notable conventions of modern times under church auspices will be held this month when the Lutherans of the world will meet for a week at Eisenach, Saxony. Delegates from 20 countries will take part in what will undoubtedly be one of the greatest meetings ever held in Protestant Christendom, and which is expected to result in a firmer fellowship and closer understanding of the Lutherans of all nations. Unofficial additional representatives to the number of 200 from 40 other Lutheran countries, it is expected, will attend sessions of the convention. Leading Lutheran churchmen will be in attendance from Norway, Sweden, Holland, France, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Roumania, Poland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Finland, Russia, Denmark, United States, Canada, South Africa, Japan, India, Madagascar and Australia.

The importance of the convention, which meets from August 19 to 26, may be realized from the fact that Lutheran churches all over the globe will observe "World Convention Sunday" in August 19, with special service and prayer for the success of the gathering. For the first time in the history of Protestantism, Lutheran communions from all over the world, numbering 91,000,000 people, will unite in a great appeal that the sessions of such a gathering may be blessed with inspiration and success.

The idea of the convention originated in American commissioners from the National Lutheran council passing from country to country in Europe to minister to those who were suffering from the results of the World War. The ministrations of charity and fraternal ties between sections of the Lutheran world that hitherto had been largely isolated from each other. When the Russian crisis came, much American relief was carried there by Commissioner Morehead, a leading Lutheran minister and college president of this country, and later all the Lutheran sections of Europe contributed according to their means toward the suffering Russians. It was this cooperation in relief that originated the thought of a convention which would serve to coordinate constructive work in all sections and all divisions of Lutheranism.

The need of an international church convention has arisen from the changes of church organization required by governmental changes in European countries. Where such changes occurred the local situation involves great foreign missionary enterprises in Africa, Asia and the Pacific Islands.

Probably the most important phase of the convention is the establishment of the ecumenical character of the Lutheran church in spite of the fact that it has always had common confessions, its ecumenical character has not up to this time received particular attention. Lutheranism does not believe that uniformity of external organization is essential to the real catholicity expressed in the Apostles' creed; but in these times when external uniformity is the objective of so many bodies of the Christian world, the Lutheran church believes it imperative to declare its faith in unmistakable terms, so as to define that spiritual unity which exists in so many other organizations.

FISH GAME MEET SEPT. 10TH

(By Associated Press)

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 15.—Fish and game commissioners or game wardens of ten western states will meet in Missoula, Mont., September 10 and 11 at the annual convention of the Western Association of State Game Commissioners.

With the members of the association to be representatives of the United States Biological Survey, National Park Service, Forest Service and the bureau of eradication of predatory animals.

The convention will discuss the draft of a proposed new law for the regulation of migratory birds; refugees and public shooting grounds; interstate traffic in furs, fish and game; uniformity of state legislation and effective ways of preserving wild game.

C. A. Jarkwies, state game warden of Montana and president of the western association, expects delegates to be present from Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Montana.

George A. Lawyer, chief U. S. game warden of Washington, D. C., will address the convention, and it is expected that William Adams, president of the International association of game, fish and conservation commissioners will be present. Commissioner Jackson, head of the conservation service of British Columbia, also is expected to attend.

After the convention the delegates will tour Yellowstone National park.

The newly married pair were seated in a cosy armchair in front of the fire.

"Dearest," said the young bride, "have you any secrets to hide from your wife?"

"None, my pet," replied hubby proudly.

"Then I, too, will have no secrets from you," said she in heroic tones.

"What, have you a secret?" he asked in a startled voice.

"Only one," she said firmly and slowly, "and I am going to tell it to you."

"Go on," he muttered hoarsely.

"For some weeks I have had a secret longing for a fur coat for a birthday present."

CONSIDER THE LILIES, SAYS EXPERT

By HEDDA HOYT

Fashion Editor of the United Press

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Consider the lily of the beach, she coils not—neither does she swim.

At every beach we find them—these lilies of the beach! Their complexions are as white as the foam of the sea. Lot! they perch on the sand and peer out from under their sunshades his not flesh, but layers of powder.

It was rumored last season that Zeigfeld offered a prize to the fairest girl who would through the season without becoming disfigured by sunburn. It may be that the vogue for sun-protection started in this way.

Quite the most astounding sight that I have witnessed this year on the beaches was a "beach lily" down in a brown batik frock, which was a high-necked, long-sleeved, long-skirted dress. Her parasol hid her neck portions from view and I presumed that she was dressed for the day, so to speak. When suddenly, without warning, she leisurely lifted her parasol displaying two of the brownest legs that I have ever seen. The incongruity of the bather's legs and the Fifth Avenue "upper" was amazing.

Real Bathing Suits

Of course, there have been all sorts of lovely bathing suits introduced this season ranging from silk bathings and printed linens to the real swimwear of today.

Just the real swimwear of today wearing and will continue to wear the jersey suit as it permits complete freedom for swimming. Vacation girls find it preferable to all other types of suits and since the ban on the one-piece has been lifted at most resorts, the woman who goes in for swimming as a sport need have no qualms about wearing what she pleases.

Certainly for swimming purposes, it is less conspicuous and shocking than the long-sleeved, high-necked frock which ends at the hips, boldly displaying naked limbs for no apparent reason.

Double rubber caps with the chin strap are quite the best sort for the swimmer. On the canvas really en and handkerchiefs flowing in the foam. Even the girl with the permanent wave hesitates a bit before getting her hair wet as continual applications of cold water tend to eliminate the curl.

Coin in Bathing Suits

Rubber upper-arm bracelets for swimming have tiny pockets in which small change may be kept. They come in very handy, as it isn't always easy to get back to one's locker for change and popcorn and peanuts taste mighty good after a long swim.

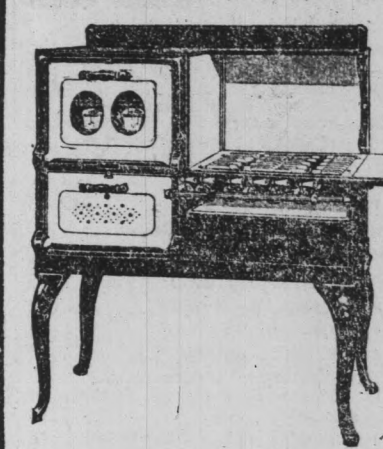

The newest bathing shoes are made in sandal effect, with soles of heavy canvas and uppers of white canvas. Straps of colored leather are used as a trim and as a support to the foot and ankle. Often a beach shoe of this kind extends half way to the knee. The all-weather beach shoe is pretty in its bright colors but unless the beach is free of broken glass and stones, it is inadvisable to wear a rubber-soled shoe.

EYELET EMBROIDERY

Children's and young girls' dresses emphasize the chic of eyelet embroidery. In cream color or white it is sometimes placed over a darker color.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

—A— and every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if a full pint bottle of ALLENRU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Allenru relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLENRU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance.

The wealthy uncle was talking over the prospects of his nephew with the lad's mother.
"How is he doing with his studies?"
"Oh, very well. He shows a great talent for music, and his manner is very haughty. His teacher thinks he will become a conductor."
"Ah, indeed?" responded uncle. "Orchestra or trolley?"

The sixteenth biennial session of the Imperial Palace has drawn off for motoring delegates. The Multnomah hotel will be the official headquarters of the Imperial family, while the city's million dollar municipal auditorium will be used for the ceremonials. ### "MAKING A MAN"

None of your wishy-washy heroes for Jack Holt. He revels in two-fisted fighting roles—and here's one of his best! Mean and rich at the start, he learns through misfortune what hunger and love and kindness really are. Of course there's a girl—pretty Eva Novak.

TO ENLIST 100,000 IN NARCOTIC FIGHT

"We will make the committee of 100 a committee of 100,000."

This is the determination of the citizens' committee of the International Narcotic Education association, organized in Los Angeles to attack the world problem of narcotic addiction.

The last week in September has been picked for Los Angeles city and county as a period of "enlistment of friends" of the educational method of meeting what Capt. Richmond P. Hobson, president of the association, in all his public utterances call "a grave peril to our civilization."

With Los Angeles as a nucleus, and 100,000 enlisted, it is proposed to organize the United States and Canada, city by city, until all who care to make an effort against the rising tide of addiction are enrolled in the crusade to carry the truth to the people.

The effort will center on the children, who will be reached at least twice during each school year with authentic information. Clubs, churches, civic bodies and the press will be asked to do their share.

"All organized agencies of light," Capt. Hobson said this morning, "will be expected as a matter of course to join in the Los Angeles movement—for that is what it will be called—to remove dope as a menace to our civilization, as a threat against the very life of the race."

"Addicts exceed by probably more than a million the maximum number of drunkards at any one time. Each addict is a recruiting agent and potential peddler. Recruiting is organized and is carried on actively among the young. The average recruit is but recently out of his teens."

"Chemists have discovered how to make narcotics out of coal tar and anticipate new drugs more powerful than the old ones. The secretive methods possible with such drugs defy legal control. Salvage of the victims gives little hope of solving the problem."

The association has built up a citizens' committee on narcotic education in Los Angeles of 100 members, representing the leadership of important groups, organizations and classifications. Under the auspices of this committee the association has put on Narcotic Education week in the schools of Los Angeles and adjoining cities, reaching children whose enrollment totals more than 175,000. It has put on Narcotic Education day at the Monroe Doctrine Centennial Exposition, bringing together by representative or by message of sympathetic interest all continents and races, most of the important governments and civilizations, and nearly all religious groups including the various Protestant denominations, Roman Catholic, representatives from Judaism, Mormonism, Shintoism, Buddhism, Christian Science, Advanced Thought, and Theosophy.

John E. Fishburn, president of the Merchants National bank, has accepted the trusteeship of the association, and Miss Mary Workman, the post of secretary, giving a complete roster of officers.

A man may not be a liar and yet occasionally distort the truth.

JAMES W. FOLEY

LITTLE THOUGHTS FOR LITTLE FOLKS

A little pebble in the shoe will spoil a happy day.
A little blister on your foot will ruin all your play.
A little bit of hate in you will show upon your face.
A little bit of friendliness will light your soul with grace.

A little effort every day, the hardest tasks are done,
A little thread and patience and the spider's web is spun.

It's not the big things make up life, its woe or happiness,
The little things are those that make for failure or success.

A little break in just one thread and all the fabric fails;
A little leak at last will sink the stoutest ship that sails.

When darkness falls and ways unknown through all the gloom and night
The mariner may sail with just one little beacon light.
A little kindness done in time may spare a lot of ill;
And little grains of wheat make all the flour in the mill.

A very little worm may bore its way into a tree
And send it crashing down to earth, a sorry thing to see.

And many troubles we avoid with just a little care,
Fires need a very little hole to let out all the air;
A little grit will win the fight when all seems lost and gone;
A little whisper of good cheer will help the sad soul on.

The ladder's made of little rungs, by little steps we climb;
The bee brings honey to the hive a little at a time.
The earth is but a little speck in endless space that's whirled,
And little kindnesses and smiles make it a better world.

"FARE ENOUGH"—A Clever Comedy

Hoffy had spent about an hour in dressing that evening. This was unusual for him. He was not known to have any aspirations to shine as a beau bummel. Accordingly, his sister was somewhat curious to know what all the dolly-ing up process was about. Certainly she was not prepared for the appearance he presented when he came down the stairs.
"Way, brother, what does this mean? A plaide tie with a dress suit?"
"I think I'm about right," pacifically responded Hoffy. "I am going to a society prize fight."

National Wheat Body Advocated For Price Fixing

[By Associated Press]

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 14.—Creation by the United States of a national wheat corporation which would establish a basic minimum price for all American wheat, and employ other measures for stabilizing the wheat market is advocated by I. A. Madden, farm advisor for Sangamon county, and well-known in Illinois as a farm authority.

"Allowing the surplus of American wheat to set the price of American farm crops must stop if the farmer is to be saved from ruin," said Mr. Madden in outlining his plan.

"The United States should charter a national wheat corporation and appropriate sufficient funds for working capital. This corporation should then establish a basic minimum wheat price for all American wheat offered at the basic minimum price, then the national wheat corporation should step in and buy wheat."

Only a wise man knows how little he knows of that which may be known.
